

The background of the poster features a composite image. At the top, the iconic ATIS tower of George Bush Intercontinental Airport stands against a sky with soft, colorful clouds. To the right of the tower, a large commercial airplane is shown in flight. Below the tower, several 3D rectangular blocks are arranged, each featuring a different national flag: the Union Jack, the Italian flag, the United States flag, and the European Union flag. The entire scene is overlaid on a faint, light blue world map that shows the outlines of continents and a network of white lines representing flight paths.
